Happy holidays!

As this is the last newsletter of this year we would like to wish you happy holidays and thank you for the great effort during the past year!

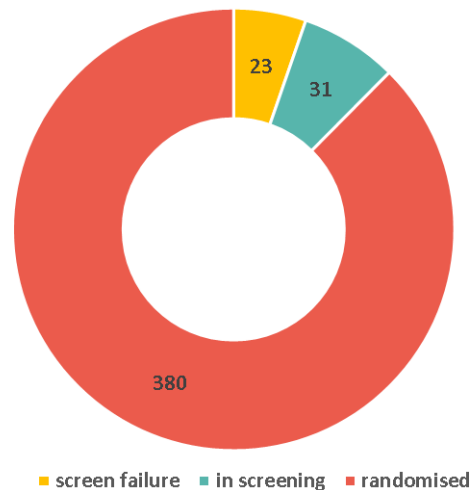

Recruitment and study progress

We are happy to announce that the number of participants included in the trial is still growing! To date, 434 participants were screened and 380 are already successfully randomized. As described previously both the kidney transplant- and dialysis group merited attention and we noticed that screening within these groups is growing with now 107 patients in the dialysis group and 103 in the kidney transplant group. Those groups still need attention, but well done!

Our next recruitment milestone to reach is 750 enrolled participants by end of March 2024. We're certain that we can meet this milestone together!

Tips and tricks data handling

As more and more sites completed their first monitor visits we'd like to share some overall feedback of the monitors as lessons learned:

- When participants completed screening, but did not meet the inclusion criteria and/or met an exclusion criteria, please note that the end of study (EoS) page should also be completed in REDCap.
- Try to check REDCap monthly to resolve open queries or get notifications of REDCap to make sure queries are handled on a regular basis.
- If paper source is used, please ensure that each form has the subject randomization number written on the form and the initials of the person completing the form.
- For the Netherlands only – some participants may require to switch from participating center due to e.g. start chronic dialysis or receiving a kidney transplant. Please reach out to the central UMCG team (renal.lifecycle.trial@umcg.nl) for support.
